Johnny Morris, Bass Pro Shops and Cabela's donating more than 55,000 rods and reels across North America in challenge to get more kids outside

Largest donation ever kicks off Gone Fishing with free in-store events and community partnerships introducing more kids and families to fishing

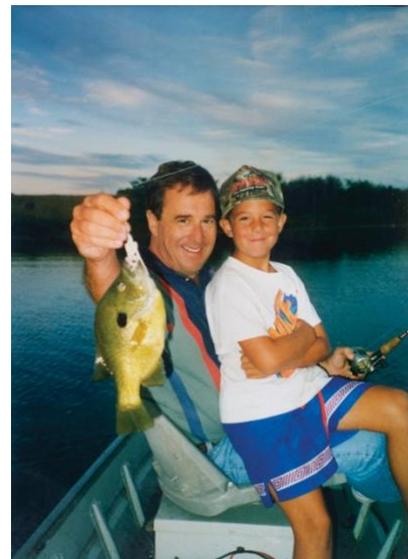

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. – Noted conservationist and Bass Pro Shops founder Johnny Morris is challenging families everywhere to put down their digital devices and head outside to discover the joys of fishing this summer. Morris, Bass Pro Shops and Cabela's are donating more than 55,000 rods and reels to not-for-profit partners that help kids from all backgrounds connect to the great outdoors to kick off Gone Fishing.

The nationwide movement is part of an annual call-to-action that aims to introduce the sport to millions of kids. Activities include donations, nonprofit partnerships and a variety of free in-store activities at all Bass Pro Shops and Cabela's locations the weekends of June 8-9 and 15-16. Since the program's inception, Bass Pro Shops and Cabela's have donated more than 400,000 items to youth-focused nonprofit organizations across North America.

"The most special memories in life come from spending time in nature with those you care about. For me, it all started with fishing," said Johnny Morris, who spent his boyhood summers fishing with his family on the beautiful rivers in Missouri's Ozark Mountains. "We want to help as many kids as we can discover the joy of fishing – on the ocean, in a lake or on a stream – so we're donating thousands of fishing poles, inviting families to catch their first fish at Bass Pro Shops and encouraging everyone to take someone they love fishing this summer."

National Donation Day

Gone Fishing kicks off with a national donation day on Thursday, June 6, with Morris, Bass Pro Shops and Cabela's donating more than 55,000 rods and reels to nonprofit organizations that connect kids to the outdoors and help get more kids outside. Customers brought in gently used rods and reels this spring in exchange for discounts on new gear; each piece is refurbished to ensure they are fish-ready for kids. This year marks the largest donation in the event's history.
